Boston, Feb. 22, 1846.

Dear Caroline:

I feel much gratitude for your efficient exertions on Elliott's account and accept with the greatest satisfaction the opportunity of placing him with the Hortons.

I have written to Hopedale, & presume the boy will be with you tomorrow or the next day. If the Hortons should not be satisfied with him, he must go a-whaling, but I am glad to have a trial on shore.

Supposing he may need some few articles of clothing, I send my Cheque for ten dollars. More will of course be forthcoming as wanted. Any acquaintance will cash the Cheque.

With renewed thanks, I am, in haste,

Yr obliged friend

Ellis Gray Loring.

When he goes to Mrs Horton, I wish him decently clothed. I do not know in what condition his clothing may be. Please pay her or some one else for attending to all this, & let me know what I owe for it. I wish him to begin nights of course.
